
Developing a Conceptual Model Using Fundamental Theory in Empowering Rural Women:
(Case Study on Eshgabad county of Neishaboor City)

Asadolah Arabkhani ¹

Seyyed Mohammad Seyyed Mirzaei ²

Alireza Kaldy ³

Abstract

This article reviews the factors affecting the empowerment of rural women and the roles of these women in relation to local development in rural district of Eshgabad of county of Neishaboor eparchy. In this article, Has been used Grounded theory method and Participatory Rural Appraisal, Rapid Rural Assessment ,Semi-structured interviews, observation and walking in the field and group discussion techniques, and has used snowball techniques for Selection of statistical samples up to theoretical saturation stage (In the twenty fifth person) in the data, and after analyzing the collected data in the field Through coding (open, axial, and selective), by choosing a central category of “Empowering rural women” a theory has been extracted based on collected data from the field. Then, according to data analysis based on the principles of the dominant theory of theory, the theory of “Empowering rural women as a factor for local development” was obtained from the data.

Key words: Empowerment of rural women, Local development, Rural development, Participation, Social welfare

1. Ph.D. Student, economical Sociology and Development, Azad university, Tehran; Email: arabkhanias116@yahoo.com

2. Professor of Sociology, Azad University, Tehran; Email: seyedmirzaie@yahoo.com

3. Professor of sociology, Azad University, Tehran; Email: kaldi@Srbiau.ac.ir